

Sunday Aug. 21, 1983
Star Bulletin + Advertiser

Paul Loo
"Preservation first"

Robert Chamberlain
"Check reputations"

Clair Harding
"26¢ impossible"

Gary Jung
"Long-term good?"

Ted Jung
"No free lunch"

pay to do it."

On investment philosophy, Paul Loo, Dean Witter Reynolds' manager here, said: "There is only one way to develop wealth and that's carefully and slowly. Capital gains are less important than preservation of capital."

A number of the executives expressed wonder at how some investors with substantial means put funds with Bishop Baldwin. Van Wagner of Shearson American Express lays that to two "rather lethal ingredients — lack of research and greed."